DECLARATION OF LLOYD A. GURA

I, Lloyd A. Gura, declare:

- I am a member of the law firm of Mound Cotton Wollan & Greengrass, attorneys for Defendant First State Insurance Group ("First State"), and the principal attorney representing First State in the arbitration with National Casualty Company ("National Casualty"). As such, I am fully familiar with the facts and circumstances of this action. I respectfully submit this declaration in opposition to Plaintiff National Casualty's Supplemental Memorandum in Support of its Petition to Vacate Arbitration Award Under §§ 9 U.S.C. 10(a)(1) and 10(a)(3) and the January 13, 2005 Affidavit of Mark C. Kareken (the "Kareken Affidavit").
- 2. National Casualty seeks the vacatur of the March 12, 2004 final award (the "Award") rendered in the arbitration proceeding because First State allegedly violated an interim panel order directing it to produce certain First State documents not subject to disclosure by reason of the attorney-client privilege and the attorney work-product doctrine (the "Privileged Documents"). According to National Casualty, First State's withholding of the 757 Privileged Documents resulted in prejudice to National Casualty, despite First State's production of thousands of pages of documents from its files. Annexed hereto as Exhibit 1 is a true and correct copy of a September 23, 2003 letter from Mark C. Kareken to Todd A. Bakal, acknowledging on behalf of National Casualty the receipt of "some 11,000 pages of material." National Casualty selected these documents from more than 100,000 pages of material that it reviewed while auditing First State's files during pre-hearing discovery. (First State's Brief in Opposition to National Casualty's Request for Privileged Documents, Amended Petition Ex. 7, at 18.)

- 3. Notably, at the hearing, it became clear that during prior, non-arbitration audits of First State, National Casualty had reviewed most, if not all, of the Privileged Documents. Annexed hereto as Exhibit 2 is a true and correct copy of relevant excerpts of the transcript of the arbitration hearing conducted from February 10, 2004 to February 12, 2004 (the "Hearing Tr."). Specifically, Hannah Huryk, Manager for Assumed Reinsurance at Nationwide Indemnity Company and one of the National Casualty claims handlers, testified that during a previous audit of First State, she reviewed the Privileged Documents, which she described as a "table full of material." (Hearing Tr., at 1039:3-1039:22)
- 4. Among the Privileged Documents reviewed by Ms. Huryk were memoranda prepared by the law firm of Hogan & Hartson, counsel to First State in connection with the underlying claims, for which First State is seeking reinsurance from National Casualty. (Hearing Tr., at 1089:6-1089:24, 1091:1-1091:24.) Ms. Huryk's notes of these memoranda indisputably support First State's position that it had settled the Owens Corning Fiberglass claim discussed in the Kareken Affidavit, as a single occurrence. (Hearing Tr., at 1089:14-1090:11.)
- 5. Ms. Huryk's notes also demonstrate that First State settled other claims on a single occurrence basis, and not on a multiple occurrence basis as argued by National Casualty. (E.g., Hearing Tr., at 1056:12-1056:21, 1093:24-1094:16.)

6. After considering the evidence presented by the parties and hearing the arguments of counsel, the panel rendered the Award, which was in favor of First State. The negative inference that the panel drew from First State's withholding of the Privileged Documents resulted in a denial of costs to First State. In this proceeding, National Casualty has not articulated how the Privileged Documents, which it previously reviewed, would have helped it to prevail at the hearing. Having seen the Privileged Documents earlier and been given the opportunity to take notes on their contents, it was incumbent on National Casualty to point out to the panel and this Court any documents that support its position. This was not done because no such documents exist. The Court should not substitute its judgment for that of the panel regarding the proper application of the negative inference given the inherent weakness in National Casualty's case.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on January 27, 2005.

In the Matter of the Arbitration between First State and National Casualty Company

Dear Mr. Bakal:

I have September 22, 2003 letter that you electronically transmitted yesterday afternoon. We cannot agree with your suggestion that depositions can be completed by October 3, 2003 or that the final hearing can take place as originally scheduled.

We acknowledge receipt of some 11,000 pages of material from your office last week. As you are aware, however, First State has still not produced the log of documents it has withheld from production. It is our understanding that First State has withheld materials from both the items National Casualty requested be copied - as a result of its on-site reviews - and those maintained in ECLIPS. First State has yet to advise National Casualty when First State will make its log of withheld materials available to National Casualty. Even after the log is produced to National Casualty, it must be reviewed and any disagreements submitted to the Panel for resolution. Without the log, we have no idea how involved a process that will be or how long it will take to resolve. Moreover, taking depositions before document discovery is completed creates the distinct possibility that such depositions will be incomplete. It makes no sense to pursue a course of action that contains an obvious and inherent flaw, i.e., that deponents will have to be recalled to answer questions about previously withheld materials.

As you are aware, the Panel instructed First State on July 14th to produce the ECLIPS materials as quickly as possible. Having suggested to the Panel that nothing substantive existed in ECLIPS, it took First State nine and a half weeks First State has produced almost 11,000 pages of materials. Putting aside peoples' schedules and other commitments, it is unreasonable to expect that National Casualty can digest this volume of material and complete depositions on both sides by October 3rd. This conclusion does not even consider the problem presented by the absence of First State's log of withheld materials and the time to resolve any issues it creates.

Todd A. Bakal, Esq. First State v. National Casualty Arbitration September 23, 2003 Page 2

As you'll recall (see your 8/7/03 letter to me), National Casualty's person most knowledgeable deposition notice required at least ten days advance notice of the deposition. Counting today, there is only one day, October 3rd, which meets the ten-day requirement contained in both parties' deposition notices. We see no reason to abandon a requirement that was included in the notices specifically for the purpose of providing adequate time for preparation.

First State has now designated William Wigmanich as the person most knowledgeable to speak for First State with respect to all topics identified in National Casualty's deposition notice. National Casualty, however, also requested the depositions of every individual First State intends to call as a hearing witness. Are we to conclude that Mr. Wigmanich is both the person most knowledgeable and the only individual First State intends to call to testify at the final hearing? Your October 3rd cut-off proposal also fails to consider that National Casualty may wish to depose persons that the produced documents reveal as having had significant involvement relative to the issues in dispute.

First State's September 12th deposition notices request the depositions of two former Nationwide employees, Messrs. Bare and Cabill. As I mentioned in my September 17th letter to Mr. Cass, we must first obtain these individuals' consent to appear for depositions - presumably in Columbus - and if not, then First State will have to decide whether it wishes to request subpoenas from the Panel to compel Messrs. Bare and Cahill to appear and then attempt to serve and enforce the subpoenas. All of this will take considerably more time that you have allowed for in your proposed schedule.

Lastly, your proposed schedule fails to consider the schedules and commitments of National Casualty's likely witnesses and counsel. I am not in a position to drop everything else to complete depositions by October 3rd or briefing by October 31st. The original schedule provided no less than two months from the completion of discovery to the submission of reply briefs. It is unfair and unrealistic of First State to produce 11,000 pages last week, leave completely unaddressed and unresolved the withheld document issues, and expect a deposition process - originally allotted two months for completion be completed in less than two weeks - and a briefing process - originally allotted two months for completion - to be concluded in one month.

We encourage First State to reconsider its scheduling proposal and agree with National Casualty that a November hearing may have appeared possible in January, but is no longer a viable option. We request that First State join National Casualty's request for the Panel to provide dates after November 2003 when they are available to conduct the final hearing. Assuming First State rejects National Casualty's suggestions, we request that the Panel act by granting National Casualty's September 22, 2003 request that the final hearing in this matter be moved to a mutually acceptable date after November 2003.

- Q. -- at First State/Hartford. You have 2 audited both at Boston and Hartford? 3 Correct?
 - · A. Yes.
- Q. And the first time you audited, was that in 2001? You can look at our chart. I am 7 not trying to trick you. It is right 8

9 there. (Handing FS Exhibit No. 99 to 10 the witness.) 11

- Q. I think from your testimony you said 2001? 12
- A. That says the first time. I thought I had 13 been there earlier than that. I thought I 14 had been there in 2000, but. 15
- Q. That is fine. It doesn't matter, 2000, 16 2001. 17.
- 18 A. I audited with the team often and fairly regularly since my employment with the 19 20 company.
- Q. And you have heard Mr. Wigmanich explain 21 and describe First State's procedures 22 concerning audits and the access to and 23 production of privileged documents; isn't 24 G & M COURT REPORTERS & ASSOCIATES (617) 338-0030 (800) 655-3663

- A. You mean the letter?
- Q. Yes. The letter.
- A. Yes.
- Q. What is the date of that letter?
- A. The date of the letter is April 2001.
- Q. And this letter, that you know is an . 7 exhibit here, it is First State 101, the
 - letter from Jackie Rackle to Fred
- 9
- Schaefer --10
- 11 A. That's correct.
- 12 (Handing FS Exhibit No. 101 to 13

- Q. -- you have seen that? 14
- A. Yes. 15
- Q. This is now a letter written in response 16 to that 2001 audit in November -- October 17
- and November, and she says quite clearly, 18
- "As you are aware, it is our policy to 19
- remove all privileged and confidential 20

- Q. And I think he described it as initially 3 access was given and privileged documents were not produced in writing or that 5 photocopies were not made and produced to 6 7
 - reinsurers? Do you recall that?
- A. I do recall that he said that.
- Q. Okay. In 2001, is it your testimony that you expected to receive copies of 10 privileged documents? 11
- A. Yes. That was my expectation. 12
- Q. That is the October-November audit? 13 14 Correct?
- 15 A. Yes.
- Q. Obviously, you would have looked at those 16
- privileged documents during that audit? 17
- That is why you had that expectation? 18 Correct? 19
- A. I did look at them. Yes. 20

 - A. I believe that in my denial letter on
 - Owens Corning I do express my shock and 6
 - amazement at having 500 pages of documents 7 withheld. 8
 - Q. That's in --9
 - A. In relation to the single claim? 10
 - 11 Q. Right.
 - A. Yes. 12
 - Q. Let's go to that. That was your January 13

 - January 9, 2002 letter? 15
 - A. That is the January 9th. It was signed by 16

Q. Is that typical language in a settlement agreement for a case like this?

. Do you see that?

- A. Well, I don't know if it is typical in a case like this, particularly in light of it being a product liability claim. For the most part, I think it seems obvious that there was only $240,000 paid for nonproducts claims. If this was strictly a product liability claim, I'm not sure that there would be language like this in it at all.

- 14 A. Yes.
- Q. I don't want you to guess. That is why I 15 ask you, please --16

     Q. It says, "If First State were right and 14
        all asbestos claims arose out of the same 15
        occurrence, then they'd owe zero; if First 16
        State argued multiple occurrence, OC got 17
        no coverage." Do you see that?
18
    A. Yes.
19
     Q. The next line, "If OC were right, single 20
        separate occurrence, then all limits are 21
        exposed plus defense in addition to 22
        limits." Do you see that?
23
    A. I do.

- 7 Q. Who was the arbitration between? Odyssey 8 and who?
- 9 A. Wausau and --
- 10 Q. Odyssey and Wausau?
- 11 A. Yes.
- 12 Q. You were testifying on behalf of Wausau in that arbitration?
- 14 A. Yes.
- 15 Q. Was that arbitration subject to a confidentiality order do you know?
- 17 A. Yes. It was.
- 18 Q. Okay. So the document which was produced 19 in that arbitration which was subject to a
- 20 confidentiality order and which was never
- 21 produced to us in this case which for the
- 22 first time appeared in your brief, is that
- a violation of the confidentiality order in that case?

- 5 A. Yes.

- Q. That Hogan & Hartson memo before that, 4/26/01, is that the one that was included in your brief at Exhibit 142 do you know?
- 9 A. I don't know.
- 10 Q. Do you have Exhibit 142? I think you have 11 Exhibit 142 there in that binder in front
 12 of you. It is the Wigmanich binder that I 13 think it is in.

- A. Well, this document was probably produced to us in the course of an audit as well, but it was also produced to us as part of
- that arbitration.
- Q. Are you guessing now?

 A. I don't -- you know, I don't know.
- 7 Q. You don't know. Okay. That's fine.
- Okay. We are done with that exhibit.
